To whom it may concern,

I've had the pleasure of working with Ralph Fey on both a professional and personal level for over a decade. Ralph has done work on my own residence as well as on areas of my company's showrooms.

It goes without saying that I have the ability to, and have worked with, a countless number of architects. I consider Ralph to be among a very select few in the highest tier of those architects. Not only is his talent and skill clearly evident in his significant "block" of completed work, but he is always the consummate professional. He gets the work done on schedule and consistently produces thoughtful drawings that are informative and clear... the way that they should be... but too often these days, the way that they are not.

I've also witnessed Ralph give of his time and effort again and again to support his community, as well as surrounding communities.

Perhaps one of Ralph's greatest traits, however, is his personality. I've always found him enjoyable to work with. He listens well, has a tremendous work ethic, and a wonderful sense of humor.

Without hesitation or qualification, I strongly recommend the consideration of Mr. Fey for your architectural or project management needs. I am convinced that you'll be more than satisfied with the process and the end result.

Yours sincerely,

Keith Coleman
